

Testimonial from Tacoma Public Schools

December 12, 2007

Hi, Terry and Kim–

I want to thank you both so much for the training you provided to Tacoma Public Schools last week. I thought I knew a lot, but I learned something very valuable which I think will be especially helpful to me as I work with parents and families—the difference between identity and orientation. I had indeed used and thought of these terms as being interchangeable, and they truly are not.

The feedback from the folks who attended has been very positive. Please let me know when you are here again, and we can do this again and have a broader audience.

Again, thank you so much for the training and for your kindness. We definitely can use both!
